Dear Smt. Jayanti Shukla,

The Integrated Child Development Service (ICDS) thrives towards providing health and welfare services to underprivileged women and children through dedicated Aanganwadi Sevikas in Aanganwadi centres.

Considering prevalence and threat of vertical transmission of Hepatitis B from pregnant mothers to children, United Way Mumbai, trained more 133 Aanganwadi Sevikas in Wadala-Shivadi project, F-North ward and also provided them with facility for Hepatitis B voluntary testing and vaccination.

This effort by your organisation has helped in capacity building of the Aanganwadi Sevikas and also helped them with protection towards Hepatitis B. Trained sevikas will further spread awareness of Hepatitis B among pregnant women and women child bearing age in the communities.

I would like to thank United Way Mumbai for these activities.

Warm regards,

Mr. Prasad Mirkale
